THE PIE-NANCIAL TIMES

CHRISTMAS IS COMING: THE MOTH IS GETTING FAT!

A shocking new report has revealed that over 75% of families WONT be having turkey for this year's Christmas dinner, because they can't afford it! What with the recession and the crumbling economy, people will be turning to alternative, less expensive, yuletide fare. One family interviewed said turkey was simply out of the question, as was chicken. They won't be having goose either as they are vegetarians, the only option left is cat! The father told us, 'We've already got a cat, he's called Kenneth after the famous actress Marilyn Monroe. We love him dearly, but come Christmas Day, wham, straight into the oven with the little bugger!'

Tasty Pensioners

Of the many families interviewed, over half said they could never bring themselves to eat their domestic pets so they'll be tucking into the more senior members of the family come Christmas Day. 'I just hope Gran goes well with the stuffing and roasties', quipped one penniless mother, licking

For a tasty alternative to turkey this christmas, why not tuck into Granny instead? It's not only delicious but cheaper too. What a nice change!

her lips. If there aren't any spare pensioners to eat this year another favourite could be moth. Some moths grow to over an inch long so there'll be no shortage of leftovers for Boxing Day.

Crackers

Other Christmas treats could face the chop this year too including the ever popular bowl of nuts. Most people will have to settle for a bowl of pebbles and as for tangerines, well, it's pebbles again, this time painted orange. Crackers are out too. People will have to use sparrows and other wild birds as a substitute. Obviously they won't pop as loudly and the presents inside won't be as much fun. And as for decorations, extravagant Christmas trees are a definite no no. It has been decided that the youngest member of the family must stand quietly in the corner for two weeks draped in strips of Alcan. This year's Queen's speech will be recited by a parrot and the James Bond film will have to be acted out by a shoe

Wild birds make an interesting alternative to crackers. Robins are particularly festive but the prize inside tends to be similar in all of them and there's no hat. Oh well!!

THE SUN HAS GOT HIS HAT ON!

Although he's been struck off, at least we think he said struck off, Dr Raymond Howe can't stop giving out batty medical advice. This time he's issued a sturdy warning about sunbathing. Right at the end of summer too, just when we needed it. Apparently, after informing us of the dangers of going out in the daylight, Dr Howe is saying sunbathing can cause premature ageing. In one shocking case a 7 year old boy fell asleep in the sun on a beach in Greece. When he awoke he had a long white beard and walked with a stick. By the time he returned to England he'd aged so much it was the year 2055 and all his friends were dead.

UTTER TRIPE

Dr Howe also told us about how going out in heavy rain can shrink your body to less than half its size, if you're not careful. The sudden change in environment and rapid drying off period causes your skeleton to contract putting excess pressure on your brain. We told him that this shouldn't bother him too much as he probably didn't have a brain, what with all his arsehole theories and that. To prove he does have a brain, Dr Howe proceeded to hack saw the top of his head off to show us the evidence. He is still in intensive care. If you'd like to read more of Dr Howe's wisdom turn to the letters page where we have given him his own medical advice spot. That should be about as useful as a video in a blind school shouldn't it?

NEWS IN BRIEF....

IT'S VICAR REEVES!

Britain's funniest fellow Vic Reeves has decided to pack comedy in all together, to become a vicar! The crazy comedian claims he met Jesus in the local laundrette and he told him to join a monastery or even a nunnery as soon as he can. Vic rushed out straight away to buy a bible and vicar's costume. We asked the star's agent when Vic would officially join the clergy, he said, 'There is absolutely no truth in this silly story whatsoever. You simply thought 'It's Vicar Reeves' would be an amusing headline so you made up this pathetic tale around it. Now get out of my office before I call the police.' He was right, we did make the whole thing up

TICKETS CHEESE!

A none-too-bright housewife, Belinda Broomhandle, could face prosecution by British Rail over alleged fare evasion. Belinda was returning home from a cheese shopping trip when the train conductor asked her to produce her ticket. Instead of giving him the ticket she accidentally handed him a chunk of Red Leicester cheese! The error was only noticed later that day by an eagle eyed senior porter. When British Rail went round to her house to complain they found she had already toasted the ticket and eaten it for her tea. Mrs Broomhandle could end up being burned at the stake for her blunder.

A BAAAAAAD INFLUENCE

A top kids' comedy comic as been branded a bad influence on young minds by a High Court Judge. Apparently the magazine, which calls itself

'ACNE', has printed a competition encouraging children to send in their favourite swear words and could win a prize for their trouble! Thousands of children have responded to the disgusting and shameful competition and an insider at the 'ACNE' camp told us the entries have been shocking, even by their standards. 'We've even had to look up some of the words in the dictionary', explained the disgraceful editor, 'Some of the best expletives ever!' The competition will run for another month despite the fury from outraged parents.

Introduction

Now then yah pack of turd flavoured jellies! It's Billy here, your unfriendly hard nut with fists of iron. You know, a lot of you twonks keep writing in asking for a fight with me and I can't think why? Are you all so arse brained as to believe I really exist? I'm a sodding cartoon character for Christ's sake! Everyone in ACNE is make believe, that's the whole point of the comic you dipsticks! Mind you that mangy, flea bitten mutt Pedro is real enough. I should know, he crapped all over the carpets in the ACNE offices yesterday, the dirty little get. Oh by the way, millions of you have responded to that silly tart Victoria Snotty's Christmas Carol Competition, but we still want to hear from the rest of you. And don't forget your photos either. I tell you, there's some ugly kids out there, bloody frightening some of 'em. And keep your entries for the swearing comp rolling in too, we've had some beauts, they even made me blush! We'll judge it next ish. Right then, I'm gonna sod off now coz there's this new kid in the school and I haven't smashed his face in yet. I'll go and do it now,... no, hang on, I'll go for a dump first. Yes, we cartoon characters need to go to the toilet too y'know! See you poofs later!

Groovy Letters

Dear ACNE,

'Oh dear', my mother cried the other day, 'The telly's broken!' I looked her straight in the eye and said 'What do you expect you stupid bitch, I've just smashed the screen with a ball hammer, of course it's broken! Do you know, she stopped my pocket money for a month! Tut, mothers, I don't know! WOODY ALLENKEYS, Warwick.

Dear ACNE,

I need advice and quickly! Can you tell me if the bark from a Willow tree is poisonous? I've just eaten some for a bet, I thought to myself, I bet that'd be horrible to eat, and it was. If it is poisonous tell me now so I can get to the hospital A.S.A.P.! Don't dilly dally ACNE, I need you now! SALLY PANICATTACK, Luton.

We actually received this letter at the end of May '92 but we've been too busy to reply. Let us put your mind at rest Sal, yes, it is poisonous, extremely so, you've got an hour, tops. What a silly Sally you are, besides, dogs bark, not trees.

Dear ACNE,

I like Michael Caine films I do. BERTY WOOOSTERSAUCE, Lancashire.

Dear ACNE,

'Quickly, phone the fire brigade, the shed's on fire', my somewhat distaught mother yelled the other day! I sighed deeply and replied, 'It's hardly surprising you dumb trollop, I've just poured a gallon of petrol over it and put a match to it! Do you know she slipped me for a whole hour! Bloody mothers! WOODY ALLENKEYS, Warwick.

Dear ACNE,

If any of your readers may be contemplating watching 'Eldorado' in the near future, take a tip, DON'T! It's utter bilge. If you decide to 'give it a go' I recommend you have a scab or a sore on some part of your body so you have something to pick while it's on. It relieves the boredom you see. LARRY MOON,

Winchester.

Cheers Larry, we'll take your advice.

Readers may be interested to know if you don't have a scab or a sore to pick while Eldorado is on, you can always pick your nose, or someone else's for that matter. That way you've got something to flick at the screen too!

Dear ACNE,

I am 18 years old but I still read your brillo comic. Now that I am a man, my mum is constantly nagging me to get married. Fair enough I suppose, but won't she have to divorce dad first? JOHNATHON RETARD, Billingham.

Dear ACNE,

I have just measured the width of our toilet and it was exactly six foot across! Blooming amazing or what!? Can any other reader beat this? WILLIAM JUST, Trimdon.

Well can you? If you have a particularly broad bog, why not measure it and send it in, the measurement not the bog, that is. There's a prize for the widest crap house there is. Be sure to mark your envelopes 'I've got nothing better to do with my time than measure toilets just coz some git at ACNE tells me to - competition', Acne, Sandylands House, Morecambe, LA3 1DG.

Do you know she informed the Police and had me locked away! Oooh how I detest mothers!

Dear acne, dear acne, dear acne, dear acne, dear acne, dear acne, dear acne, dear acne, dear acne, dear acne, dear acne!

ROLAND REPETITION, Royston.

Strange but true

In 1406, good King Julie passed a law stating that no cars could toot their horns near rabbit warrens or badger's sets on Friday lunchtimes. As there weren't such things as cars in those days no one took any notice. As a result everyone in Britain was put in prison for the rest of their weeks.

The record for the fastest pizza eating goes to none other than pip pop star Chesney Hawkes. The blonde haired tit told us he could devour a pizza in less than 33 seconds. We put him to the test and sure enough he did it. So fast was Chezza that he didn't even notice we'd all gobbed on it first, the tosspot. We don't like that Sonia either, the fat cow that she is.

If you've ever wondered what being knocked down by a lorry is like please don't try it. We've worked out that being hit head on by a speeding articulated lorry could be bad for health, injury or death could follow. It's a silly craze so don't do it. Besides, we'd miss you, not if we're driving the lorry that is.

Dr. Howe's Waiting Room

Yes Britain's crappiest doctor, Raymond Howe, now works for ACNE comic as our medical advisor. If you have any form of ailment, write to Dr HOWE'S WAITING ROOM listing all the symptoms and he'll print the correct course of treatment, ...NOT!

Dear Doc, I get the occasional shooting pain in my chest, usually when I've been out on a cross country run. Am I in poor health? Oh, I smoke 80 fags a day too.

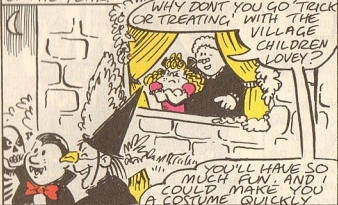

PETER PARNSIS, London.

Yes and no Peter. I fear this chest pain may be linked to something far more sinister. You say it only happens after you've been running and had 80 fags? Well then it's obvious, you're tying your shoe laces too tight. I suggest you run barefoot from now on. Doing this may cause you to grow extra nipples, but this makes feeding a litter of puppies much easier.

DEAR MR SWINEHEART...

The Agony Aunt Who Hates Everybody!!

GET STUFFED THE BLOODY LOT OF YOU! BUT FIRST, A WORD OF WARNING, I'M FEELING VERY WELL THIS ISSUE SO I MAY APPEAR TO BE SLIGHTLY GROUCHY AND BAD TEMPERED, IF NOT PSYCHOTIC. AS YOU CAN SEE I HAVE BEEN INSTRUCTED TO WEAR AN EYE PATCH FOR A SHORT WHILE DUE TO A SLIGHT STRAIN IN MY LEFT EYE. HOPEFULLY I'LL STRAIN THE RIGHT EYE TO EVEN THINGS UP. I TELL YOU, I WON'T TRY EYELID WEIGHT LIFTING AGAIN IN A HURRY, OH NO. WHEN I WAS A KID I WAS ALWAYS SHOWING OFF BY DOING ATHLETICS. I COULD CARRY A TEN POUND DUMBBELL WITH MY LASHES AND STOP A CRICKET BALL IN MID AIR WITH MY RETINA, VERY EYE CATCHING IT WAS. I WAS TOLD TO STOP IT BUT I NEVER DID, I WAS SUCH A BAD PUPIL AT SCHOOL YOU SEE!

Dear Mr Swineheart

My problem is that I am addicted to TV game shows, You Bet I am! I sit and Countdown the minutes until the next one comes on, Every Second Counts. Even if it is only the Krapton Factor, Bob's Your Uncle I'm there. Most quiz shows aren't exactly Blockbusters but I'd have a few Sticky Moments without them. Can you Give Us A Break, am I a Telly Addict? Helen Catchphrase, Ireland.

MR SWINEHEART SAYS....

I must say, there are a lot of game shows on telly these days, you can Take Your Pick from literally lots of them and amazingly they are all utter shite. I visited Helen the quiz mad loon and do you know she'd even gone to the trouble of wearing a ginger wig, sticking her chin right out and calling herself Brucie. I walked in and she said, "Nice to see you, to see you nice!" I was going to slap some sense into her but she would only have said, "Good game, good game!" In the end I decided to stand her up against the wall and throw darts at her. Hey, you can't beat a bit of Bully can you! Lovely, smashing, marvellous!

Dear Mr Swineheart,

Being a very nervous person I just can't bring myself to step outside of my house. You only need to put the news on to see how bad street crime is getting. Muggings are getting more frequent as is joy riding. I'm absolutely petrified of everything: being robbed, being looted by rioters, being torn to pieces by huge slaver rats that skulk in shadowy alleyways sharpening their poisonous teeth ready for their next victim! What can I do, I'm so scared?

Steven Shakin, Wobbleford.

MR SWINEHEART SAYS....

BOOOO!! Ha, what a laugh I am eh!! I know what you mean though. All this stuff about street crime, last week I was nearly mugged by two avenues! Luckily I turned into a side street and they legged it. I tell you what my shaky old pal, you don't need to go outside to suffer violence and intimidation, I'll come round to do it for you in your own home if you like? Stick the kettle on, I won't be long.

Dear Mr Swineheart

As you're a devious, sick minded, wicked old fart of a bloke, can you recommend any decent practical jokes which I can play on people? I've done all the usual ones like painting the dog green and throwing up on police cars, I need some new japes. Have you got any? I'd be much obliged if you had. Oh by the way, I know the one about the exploding monkey so give that one a miss Grandad!

Simon Andgarfunkal, Swindon.

MR SWINEHEART SAYS.....

Wicked old fart, Grandad eh? Hmmmm. Yes, I can think of an excellent practical joke, and it's guaranteed to raise a smile. I tried it out round Simon's house yesterday, I have been making a lot of house calls lately haven't I? You take one little prat called Simon and tie him up with chicken wire. Then you attach the end of a vacuum cleaner to his tongue and set it at maximum suck. Once done, you rig the on switch to the door handle and shout his mother in. It worked a treat. I don't think Simon liked it though, well, he never commented on it.

Dear Mr Swineheart

I have a serious problem. By that I mean I am very serious all the time. Much as I try I cannot see the funny side of anything. The other day a few chums and I sat down to watch an amusing comedy video. Whilst they were falling about laughing I just sat there feeling left out. I'm the same when I read ACNE, I never crack a smile, am I abnormal? Trevor Clever, Borely.

MR SWINEHEART SAYS....

Abnormal for not laughing at ACNE, no, quite the opposite I would have said. I too never laugh at comedy videos. Apart from the time a stack of them fell on a small child in the rental shop, that was funny. I love to chuckle at a good road smash too. I suggest you watch some of those wildlife programmes. They're really amusing, especially when a couple of those leopard things rip a gazelle to pieces, good comedy that!

Dear Mr Swineheart,

I demand that you tell me how to get to level 954 of Zippo The Magic Lighter, the new Mega Drive game form Sega! I am totally brilliant at it but can't work out whether to capture the giant noodle or break wind in the Princess's face to get out of the steel jelly. You're supposed to be brainy, how do you do it? Tell me, tell me, tell me!!

Willy Brain, Heathrow.

MR SWINEHEART SAYS....

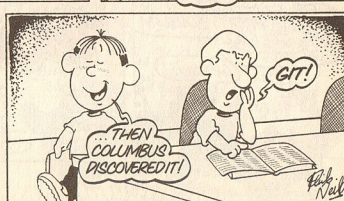

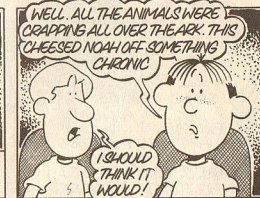

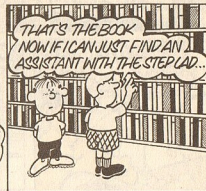

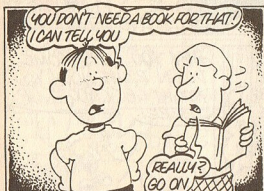

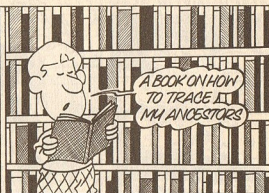

Listen boy, if you're such a sad get as to spend your entire youth fanning around with poxy computer games then kindly do it without involving me! When I was young, I didn't need a computer to fight giant aliens and kung fu porcupines! I fought real ones, there were hundreds of them where I lived. And do you know they only appeared after I'd been drinking disinfectant, amazing or what! Woohoo, I've gone all dizzy again, here come the calculators, look out Captain Kirk! Woop, woop!!

LISTEN UP CATS...

Swiney is the most evil man in the world, but also the most caring. If you have a problem you'd like him to solve then write it down and flush it down the bog. The address to send in your money and dirty pictures of your mum, is...

Once done, you should attach a piece of elastic through the A and B hole, as diagram ONE shows you.

Now you really do look like a 17th century Highwayman and ready for your first robbery. In order to test your roguish ability we suggest you start at the top and hold up a teacher, or a policeman perhaps. As soon as you do your wanted poster will be plastered all over the town and you'll be instantly infamous!

As many of your chums will be cutting out these convincing masks too, we've provided a space for you to write your name and address on to avoid mixing up yours with anyone else's, smart thinking eh? Next issue we'll be providing a free Highwayman's hat and horse, so watch out for that! In the meantime why not learn a couple of things about the real Highwaymen of old with the amazing ACNE Highwayman Fact File.

THE HIGHWAYMAN FACT FILE....

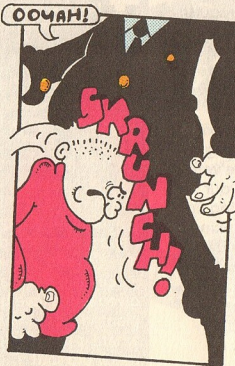

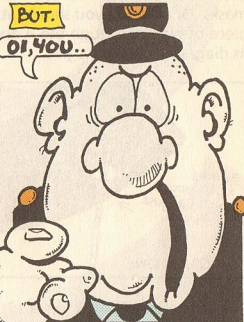

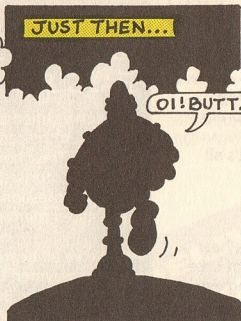

1 Highwaymen became redundant at the turn of the century when cars were invented. Their horses couldn't keep up with the new motorised carriages so many of them became professional Ice Hockey Players. Some just hanged themselves.

2 We've all heard of the famous Highwaymen Dick Turpin, Robin Hood and Adolf Hitler. But did you know there was once a highwayman called Sarky McPherson. He used to make stage-coaches pull over and instead of robbing the passengers he used to just take the piss out of the way they talked. He was eventually caught and forced to adopt a scouse accent. From then on he was the butt of everyone's vocal jibes.

3 There once was a Highwaywoman! Yes, a chick called Diedrie Allsnot. She was notoriously crap at her job because she rode a pony instead of a horse. She wouldn't carry a gun either in case she chipped a nail on it. She was caught and hanged at Tyburn, her last words were, "Don't you dare mess my hair up!"

4 Most Highwaymen were supposed to rob from the rich and give to the poor. The Daftest Highwayman ever was Charles DeShitwitz of Canterbury. He got mixed up and robbed the poor, giving it to the rich. He also wore a see through mask and rode a pig. He only worked in daylight hours too as he was scared of the dark.

5 The last recorded robbery by a Highwayman was in 1986. A nobleman by the name of Sir David Mellor was walking home one night through a thick wood. All of a sudden he heard the words "Stand and deliver" and out went the lights. When he woke his purse was gone and the robber had given him a love bite on his neck. He had also planted a bra in his coat pocket. Well that's what Sir David told his wife at least, the randy old sod!

ALAN MOORE'S COMPLETE HISTORY OF THE BANANA!!!!

Greetings fellow bendy fruit hating comrades! Since my plea for new support hit the last issue of ACNE, millions of you have written in responding to my cause. One or two of you, (well, one), have asked me exactly why I hate bananas and would I mind explaining it in detail. To do this I must present to you the gross and shocking history of the tawdry yellow fruit which is stomach churning in its content. The following facts are completely true and not for the squeamish. Be strong when you read my them my friends, and at the end perhaps you will realise just why these outrageous crescent shaped devils must be cast from our shores once and for all!

1 Bananas were discovered in 1578 by the great explorer Billy Idol. Billy stumbled across the wretched fruit whilst on safari in a far away country called Glasgow. The natives of a strange tribe there had been eating bananas for years but didn't realise they could peel them. As a result many of their people died. When Billy started peeling the bananas he was worshipped as a God.

2 Foolishly Billy abused his power over the Umbendy tribe and used it to con them out of their hi-fi equipment. He also tried to convert them to eating pears and nectarines so he could keep the bananas for himself. The natives were revolted by this idea and revolted. They put Billy in a huge sacrificial bowl and peeled him, serves him right too if you ask me!

4 Eventually bananas became the sole type of currency in Britain. A packet of Weetabix could cost you anything up to six bananas and tea bags were three bananas and a skin, each! Cattle were bought and sold for huge bunches of the things and the going rate for one banana was one banana. Amazing or what?!

3 However, by now the damage was done! The upper classes Of England had developed a taste for bananas and demand for them grew. Within two years nearly every home in Britain had one, if fact the more bananas you had the richer and taller you were. The King had the most mind you. That's why Henry VIII had all his wives executed, he found out they'd been admiring someone else's banana and he was furious.

5 Bananas soon slipped into British folklore. parents would often scare their children to sleep at night with such macabre tales as Dracula Prince Of Bananas, The Curse Of The Mummy's Banana, and The Legend Of Bananawolf. This was supposedly a strange creature that was half fruit, half timber and would come out at night to devour the toe nail clippings of people who run funny.

6 Slowly but surely an anti banana group began to form. People were sick and tired of the evil yellow fruits that dominated their lives. So, one man, my great, great, great, great great, great, great, great Grandfather, Roger Moore, set up the very first Ban The Banana Society. Sadly he was arrested and put in prison for his beliefs, so he can't have been that great eh?

7 If every banana in the world was laid end to end they would form a line that would reach to the planet Saturn, as long as you started on the planet Jupiter that is. And you'd need to add some other fruits like peaches and pineapples etc. Oh, and some string too, about 167 million, million miles of it.

8 More and more stars are shying away from bananas due to the pressure brought about by me. Rumour has it that in Terminator 2, the killer robot was supposed to be destroyed after slipping on a banana skin. When Arnie heard about my campaign he ordered the ending to be changed, and for the better I say! There is not one banana in that film now. There aren't any in Batman 2 either, well, I never saw any.

9 We've all been warned by adults that over eating certain things can make us look like them. This is totally true. One boy ate so many bananas that his back bone began to bend and his skin turned bright yellow. He took to hanging about with similar people and eventually became one of the bunch. After a while he started to develop manky, brown mushy bites and no-one bothered with him. He was thrown away uneaten, sad, very very sad.

10 When I started this organisation people laughed at me, in fact they still do, but that's neither here nor there. My point is, within three days, membership had doubled. Okay, it only took one more person to join, but it was a start! The newly reformed Ban The Banana Society boasts an incredible 12,000 members and demands for a free Anti Banana T-Shirt have rocketed. I have persuaded ACNE to print up another batch of these illustrious garments, so if you want one get your order in pronto! Here is the order form again. If you don't want to ruin your copy of ACNE by cutting out the coupon, then buy another copy instead. Don't delay, post today, and may all your dreams be banana free!
